DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Dr. Isaac J. Martin House is located on the northwest corner of Emory and Church Streets, facing south. It is a three bay wide, two bay deep three and a half story, gabled roof (running east-west) white frame structure built on a granite block full foundation. A wooden cornice, decorated with brackets runs along its south elevation.

A one story high, flat roofed porch supported by four square columns and scrolled brackets runs along the south elevation. One wide granite and five stone and cement steps lead to the east side of its wooden landing and the roman arched paneled rectangular entrance which is flanked by three vertical side lights and surmounted by a turee light transom.

Fenestration is vertically aligned and proportionally scaled.

Windows are rectangular, double-hung, holding two-over-two lights and are decorated with flat wooden sills and green wooden shutters.

Rectangular windows, located in the west wall of the foundation appear to have six-over-six lights (presently boarded up) and are decorated with projecting granite sills. A rectangular, cross paneled door rests in the center of the west walls' foundation. In addition, a lovely oriele window rests on the south bay of the west wall, decorated with a wooden cornice and brackets.

A three bay wide, one room deep, two story frame north wing whose gabled roof (running north-south) holds a central square brick chimney forms a "T" plan. Rectangular entrances are located on the east, north and basement west walls.

A parking lot is located on the west side of the building.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Dr. Isaac J. Martin House is significant historically and architecturally. Historically these lots are noted as lots #83 and #84 on the sale plat of Jonathan Ellicott's property. The corner lot #84 was conveyed to Benjamin Ellicott on January 14, 1845 (16-451) by Robert Mickler, trustee as named in an indenture or deed of Trust from Nathaniel H. Ellicott et al to Robert Mickler on 19 July, 1839, recorded in the land records of Baltimore County (293-176).

Acquired by Mary Ann and Richard W. Ellicott of New Jersey, the corner lot #84 was sold to Dr. Isaac J. Martin on July 3, 1871 (31-176) for $350. In addition, he acquired on April 28, 1871, the adjacent lot #83 from The Farmer's National Bank of Annapolis for $75 (31-165).

Dr. Isaac J. Martin was involved in research and utilized one of the buildings on the north side of Main Street, west of the Lodge Building, as a laboratory.

On May 28, 1894 R. Abbey Martin and his brother Isaac conveyed the house and two lots to their sisters Elizabeth A. and Annie D. Martin.

J. Edward Kroh acquired the land and buildings for $3300 (WWLC 91-599) on October 10, 1911 from Charles E. Ecker and Daniel M. Murray, trustees to J. Edward Kroh after a court action between Caroline Abbey Martin complainant and Juliana Howell Martin, defendant.

On January 20, 1956 Cora V. Kroh and Virginia Kroh McKenzie acquired the property for $14,500 and on 9 June, 1959 sold the building to the Board of County Commissioners of Howard County (336-289). Howard County is presently in the process of selling the property.

Architecturally it is noteworthy as a fine example of late nineteenth century architecture. It also serves as a visual anchor for the north side of Church Street, once called Ellicott Street.

Significant architecturally and historically it is located in the middle of the Ellicott City Historic District.
